

DR NITIN SHARMA APPOINTED TO INTERNATIONAL STANDARDS COMMITTEE

Dr Nitin Sharma, associate professor in the Department of Electrical and Electronics Engineering at BITS Pilani, K K Birla Goa Campus, has been nominated as an expert member by the Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) in a working group focused on international standardisation in the field of aerospace and positioning systems. This appointment aligns with India's strategic efforts to actively contribute to the development of global standards through the International Organization for Standardization (ISO). Dr Nitin will provide technical input on upcoming international standardisation projects related to advanced navigation and positioning systems, ensuring that India's scientific and technological perspectives are represented at the global level.

Dr Nitin remarked, "It is an honour to contribute to the international standardisation process and to represent India's interests in such a critical and evolving technological domain. This opportunity also reflects the emphasis BITS Pilani places on research excellence and global engagement."
